A search bar is located on the right with the placeholder text "search for resources" and a "SEARCH" button. The main content area features a large image of a student looking thoughtful, with a "FEATURED LESSON" overlay titled "The Effects of the Recession" and a "VIEW THIS LESSON" button. To the right of the featured lesson is a diagram with three colored boxes: "Educator" (orange), "Student" (green), and "Afterschool" (blue). Arrows point from the "Educator" and "Student" boxes to the "Afterschool" box, with the handwritten text "What's your path?" written across the arrows. Below the featured lesson, a text block states: "EconEdLink is the premier source of Internet-based economic & personal finance lessons & resources for teachers, students & parents." Below this is a "RECENTLY ADDED LESSONS" section with a "VIEW ALL" link and three small thumbnail images. # Gen i Revolution

The screenshot shows the Gen i Revolution website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the title "Online Personal Finance Game" and the "GEN i revolution" logo. Below the title, there are four menu items: "Overview", "Demonstration", "FAQs", and "Lessons & Materials", each accompanied by a small circular icon of a person. On the left side, there's a large circular profile picture of a woman with brown hair, and below it, a button that says "Join the Revolution". The main content area is titled "Welcome to the Gen i Revolution". It contains two paragraphs of text: "Developed for middle school and high school students, this online game gives your students the chance to learn important personal finance skills as they play and compete against fellow classmates." and "The game includes fifteen Missions in which students attempt to help people in financial trouble. Students join the Gen i Revolution, strategically select their Operatives, and begin to explore and earn points as they work to complete each Mission." To the right of the text, there's a "Get in the Game" section with a play button icon and the text "Watch the videos to learn more about this online game." Below that, there's an "Already Registered?" section with a "Username:" label and a text input field.
